Tom Zahm graduated from Notre Dame summa cum laude in 1979 with a BA in honors math and philosophy. He joined the Jesuit volunteer corps on graduating, where he taught math and computer science. He continued to teach high school math for several years until he returned to graduate school and earned a masters degree in applied math and engineering science from Northwestern in 1985. He has worked for Raytheon as a system/software engineer since 1988. Currently Tom and his wife live in Fort Wayne, IN. They have two daughters and a son.